

Narration - “A-Dee A-Doe A-Doo-Dah”

And so Dorothy set off down the road, carrying the lunch basket she received from Glinda. It was a fine morning, and she and Toto made good time as they walked. When noon came, they stopped to rest. Dorothy thought they should eat some of the food now and save some for later, so she began dividing up what they had been given. But before they had a chance to start eating, their attention was diverted by the sound of singing in the field behind them.
