

Narration - "A Heart Like You"

After meeting a very friendly Scarecrow, and untying him from the pole to which he was attached, Dorothy, Toto, and their new friend continued the journey toward the land of Oz. As they passed through a forest, they heard a strange moaning. Searching for the source of the sound, they discovered a rusty man made of tin. An oil can was nearby, just out of reach. The Scarecrow began applying the oil to the rusted joints, and soon the Tin Man was able to move and speak freely. He was very grateful, and had quite a surprising story to tell.
