

Narration - “The Wooden Walkabout”

The Ocean Grove Children's Show version of Pinocchio was first presented in the Great Auditorium on two summer nights in August 1998. The story follows the adventures of a wooden boy who hopes he will someday become a real boy.

In this scene, Pinocchio has come to school for his first day in class. The teacher welcomes her new student, assigns some work to the class, and then runs downstairs to find some books for him. Instead of doing the assignment, the class asks the wooden boy who he is.
